Combo 2 Approach from behind enemy (Tribush) > Auto attack > Flay [E] > Death Sentence [Q] > The Box (If available) Why Against Gromp, you want to kite between every attack that so when Gromp has its increased attack speed buff for the first few attacks, Gromp only does one attack for every one of yours. When Death sentence is in the air, before and after landing, you can use Ult. Souls In order to scale, we want to farm the jungle a lot in order to gain a TON of souls. Usually, this means you build Sunfire Aegis but you can buy the other two if need be. After that, you can just walk down river, with or without taking crab, and gank mid, then again to bot. This is easiest to do on Krugs and Blue Buff, weakest on Gromp. You could also gank mid lane, then ask them to help you 4 man gank bot lane, then snake dragon. So I've got some experience as how to go about ganking. You burst it at first, then devolve to weak auto-attacks to finish it off. Proper Kiting Against almost all jungle monsters, and as all jungle champions, you should aim to kite every three auto attacks. Enemies hit are also slowed for a second and take magic damage. This way, Krugs and Razorbeaks are actually viable to take. Unfortunately, I cannot justify building anything other than Sunfire Aegis before any Legendary Item. [] Surprisingly healthy clears done right. Sometimes, you might just want to go for Turret platings, and the Demolish rune helps a lot if you had space for it. [] Although it is very versatile, other champions specialize in each of these areas with an efficiency of 500% compared to Thresh. Batch of builds to choose from. General Ganking Combo Approach from the River > Flay[E] > Death Judgment [D] > The Box [R] (If available) You might think, why not hook first?. This is a general combo and I'm going to copy paste this description into the skill combo section I need to do. I'm Jungle Thresh. That's what the starter's for. It seems that they were mainly affected by Krugs (patch 11.4), since Krug's XP field dropped by 18 XP to 1, while the Raptor and Gromp lost only 0 XP. Updated for Season 11 Bamiâs Cinder is the way to go, nothing else will give you good clearances, and just buying Bamiâs will lock you into Tank Mythics. I've been wandering out of the jungle with Thresh ever since he was released. It's definitely risky, but at this point you don't care. Aim at gank from lanes behind (Tribush at the top/bot, side entrances behind the river in the middle) when you can easily burn Flash and land Easy Flays. Ganking This is the true strength of Jungle Thresh, but alone it is nothing special. With enough time, you'll have the armor and damage to strike against anyone, especially the timid champions of AD. Tiamat is a weaker compensation tool than Sunfire, and does not solve the squishy problem. When and where to fuck? This allows you to drive away enemies on pulling enemies towards you. Also, with careful planning, he aims to counterattack the savage enemy, then uses his death to write a Dragon or a Herald. [*] Long cooldowns and skillshots mean missing abilities ruin the whole gank, gank.
